BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY

The Bureau of Animal Industry develops and enforces programs and regulations which will most effectively prevent, control and eradicate transmissible diseases of livestock and poultry.

The bureau's programs, in which the state and federal governments cooperate, are designed to eliminate health hazards to livestock and poultry. The effective control of disease of livestock and poultry transmissible to man also has an impact on the incidence of these diseases in the human population.

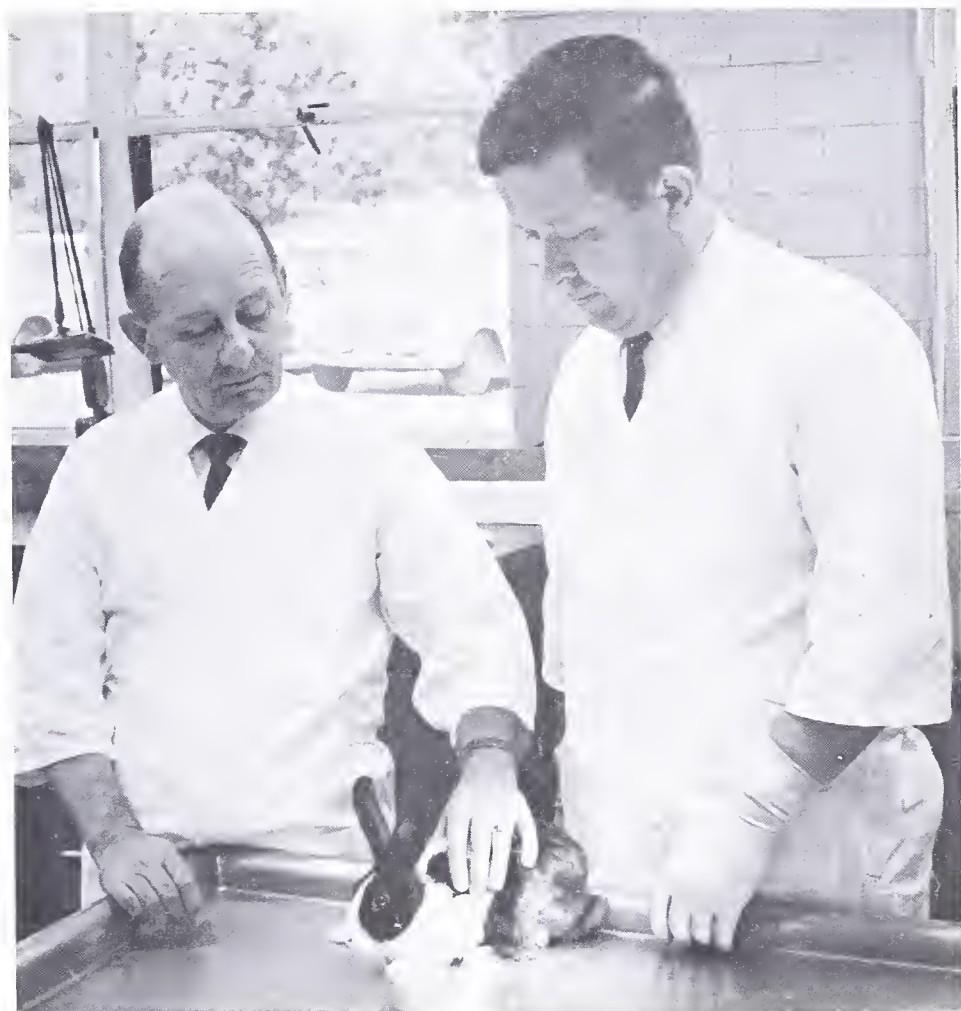

Emphasis is placed on gaining uniformity in control programs with a minimum of interference in movement of livestock through normal market channels.

An important phase of any health program is adequate and accurate diagnoses. The bureau maintains a central laboratory in the Harrisburg area and five regional laboratories throughout the state to provide diagnostic services to livestock and poultry producers and the veterinary profession.

Complete eradication of all diseases is the bureau's goal. Eradication will protect the producers' investments and safeguard the food supply.

A comprehensive meat inspection program will not only accelerate progress toward eradication of poultry and livestock diseases but will also keep Pennsylvania abreast with national and surrounding states' programs.

ANIMAL EXAMINATION

BUREAU OF PLANT INDUSTRY

The Bureau of Plant Industry checks all seeds offered for sale for purity, germination and other characteristics to determine if the seeds meet the requirements of the state's seed act.

Consumers are provided with sources of superior seed and vegetative materials through a seed certification program.

All nurseries are inspected each year and those found free from plant pests are certified. Prompt treatment for control is a requirement where pests are found. This assures the buyers of Pennsylvania-grown nursery stock that the stock is, as far as can be determined, free from pests, insects, diseases and nematodes. The plant pest act also requires that ornamental plants imported into the state be inspected to prevent the introduction of plant pests.

The bureau inspects all known apiaries and colonies of bees in the state every two years. The primary purpose is the control of infectious bee diseases -- American and European foul brood -- and to eradicate illegal cross comb and box hives.

The spread of gypsy moths west and south of known areas of infestation has made it necessary for the bureau to increase its vigilance and modify its control methods. Quarantines are essential for the protection of other states. The increased use of biological agents and chemicals in an integrated system of control appears to be the practical approach. Parasites are being raised by the bureau to assist in control work. Close cooperation with other state and federal officials is being maintained.

A cereal leaf beetle quarantine has been established in Mercer, Lawrence, Butler and parts of Beaver county to curtail the spread of this serious grain pest.

Research continues in the use of adulticides to control the European chafer, a turf pest.

An insect identification program has been inaugurated by the bureau's taxonomist.

TAXONOMIST AT WORK

BUREAU OF FOODS and CHEMISTRY

The Bureau of Foods and Chemistry is the consumer protection service of the Department. It is the responsibility of the bureau's food division to make certain that foods purchased are wholesome, free of illegal additives and properly labeled. In carrying out this work, 29 food inspectors are assigned throughout the Commonwealth to inspect establishments where food and beverages are prepared, processed, stored, displayed, sold, and served.

In addition to the basic general food law, the food division enforces specific laws relating to the manufacturing and licensing of ice cream plants, bakeries, and bottlers of beverages. Cold storage warehouses and locker plants are also licensed and routinely inspected.

Nearly 20,000 laboratory tests are made annually by the Division of Feed and Fertilizer to check manufacturers' guarantees for protein, fat, fiber, drug level, and mineral content. Farmers depend on these guarantees in buying raw materials such as animal feed, lime and fertilizer for growing crops and feeding poultry and livestock.

The Division of Milk Sanitation annually issues more than 3,000 permits to dairies in Pennsylvania and adjacent states which sell milk in Pennsylvania. These plants are inspected regularly by the bureau. Dairy employees are certified to inspect farms to see that cows and milk are being handled in a manner to insure rigid standards of quality.

The laboratory facilities located in the wing of the Agriculture Building test all feed, fertilizer, and liming samples lifted by seven field agents. The laboratory also analyzes foods, including dairy products gathered by food agents and milk sanitarians.

Work is also done in the bureau's special laboratory which is equipped to determine the levels of pesticide residues in food, milk and agriculture commodities.

CHECKING FOOD

BUREAU OF MARKETS

Today's farmer must be market oriented. He must be informed and aided in all facets of the marketing system. This includes everything that happens to a product from its inception to its final destination -- the consumer.

Bureau marketing specialists seek out ways and means of expanding old markets and developing new ones both in this country and abroad.

As part of the market development program, farmers, processors, wholesalers and distributors are brought together for better understanding and cooperation in the movement of state agricultural commodities.

The bureau compiles and distributes information on supply, demand, movement and prevailing prices of commodities.

Fresh fruits and vegetables as well as poultry and eggs are inspected to assure consistent high quality to the consumer.

The bureau administers the Pennsylvania Fair Fund. It enforces all phases of the Bureau of Markets law, the state fresh egg law, marking laws for potatoes, apples, peaches, pears and grapes and laws pertaining to filing reports for farmer cooperatives.

BLACK LIGHT EXAMINATION

STATE FARM SHOW

The State Farm Show building is the scene for more than 50 events each year.

Highlight of the events is the annual Pennsylvania Farm Show. The 52nd Farm Show attracted 485,000 to Harrisburg January 15 - 19, 1968. Theme for the show was "Agriculture -- Pennsylvania's Keystone Industry."

One of the show's features was a poultry display which showed the poultry industry from incubation to final products.

In agricultural competition, 3,717 exhibitors showed 9,887 entries. Cash awards amounted to $53,838.20

The State Farm Show Commission is responsible for staging the annual show and for the management of the building and property. The commission consists of the Governor, Secretary of Agriculture, Dean of Pennsylvania State University's College of Agriculture, Director of Pennsylvania State University's Extension Service, one appointee each from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and three appointees of the Governor selected by him from six nominees submitted by the State Farm Products Show Committee.

PRIZE WINNING ENTRY

STATE HARNESS RACING COMMISSION

The State Harness Racing Commission has responsibility and jurisdiction in regulating all activities in Pennsylvania relating to pari-mutuel harness racing.

In its five years of operation the harness racing industry in Pennsylvania has gained a respected position. Attendance and wagering at tracks in Pennsylvania during this period have resulted in revenue totaling more than $28 million for the Commonwealth. In addition, the Philadelphia School District has received more than $7 million and the Department of Commerce more than $1.4 million.

In 1967, four licensed associations conducted meets with a total of 248 days of racing. The licensees: Liberty Bell Racing Association which conducts its meets at Liberty Bell Park in the northeastern section of Philadelphia; William Penn Racing Association which also uses Liberty Bell Park for its allotted days of racing; Pocono Downs, Inc., which conducts its racing at Pocono Downs Track, Luzerne County; and Washington Trotting Association which operates The Meadows in Washington County.

The Pennsylvania tracks have been rated by horsemen as among the finest and fastest five-eighth mile ovals in the world.

DRIVERS EXCHANGE VIEWS

STATE SOIL and WATER CONSERVATION

The State Soil and Water Conservation Commission was created as an agency in the Department of Agriculture by act of the general assembly.

The purpose of the act is "to provide for the conservation of the soil and soil resources of this Commonwealth, and for the control and prevention of soil erosion, and thereby to preserve natural resources; assist in the control of floods; prevent impairment of dams and reservoirs; assist in maintaining the navigability of rivers and harbors; preserve wildlife; preserve the tax base; protect public lands; and protect and promote the health, safety and general welfare of the people of the Commonwealth."

Since the enactment of Act 217 in 1945, 64 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties have been declared soil and water conservation districts. Only Philadelphia, Delaware and Forest Counties remain without the benefits obtained through a district.

The conservation practices completed under district sponsored programs include contour strip cropping, diversion terraces, farm ponds and numerous similar practices.

With the rapid increase in the population that has been occurring, conservation of natural resources is one of the most important problems facing the state and nation today. This fact is emphasized by the recognition that none of our natural resources is inexhaustible, be it soil, minerals, open space -- even the pure air we breathe and the very water we drink. Unless these resources are preserved and used wisely, future generations will suffer because of the failure of the present generation to act.

CONSERVATION AT WORK

CROP REPORTING SERVICE

The Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service is responsible for collecting, analyzing and disseminating agricultural facts for and within the Commonwealth. Information received from voluntary reporters representing virtually all facets of Pennsylvania agriculture provides the basic data for timely estimates of crop and livestock production. These estimates can be related to competing states and regions of the nation. The service is a cooperative operation of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Statistical Reporting Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Reports issued by the service include: a weekly broiler report; a weekly weather and crop summary during the growing season; monthly reports on milk and egg production; prices received and paid by farmers; animal slaughter; and chicks hatched. During the growing season, monthly reports include forecasts of vegetable, fruit, potato, tobacco and grain production. Periodic reports on livestock inventories, maple syrup, honey, calf, lamb, wool and pig crops are also provided. Special reports are also issued in response to requests for more detailed information on various aspects of the state's agriculture.

Approximately 15,000 farm operators serve as the backbone of this agency by voluntarily supplying timely information from the farm front. Also important is the cooperation given by handlers of farm products, dealers in farm services and supplies, marketing and processing firms, banks and general businesses.

Mailed reports are supplemented in June and November each year by trained interviewers who obtain information from farmers in scientifically selected sample areas. This approach is augmented by a sampling of large operators throughout the state.

Pennsylvania History, Topography and Climate

Pennsylvania, one of the thirteen original states, was settled by William Penn at Upland (now called Chester) in 1682. The grant of the territory west of the Delaware River was made to Penn by the King of England in settlement of a debt of $80,000 due the estate of Penn's father for services rendered as an Admiral in the English Navy. The English secured this territory from the Dutch in 1664.

The State originally consisted of three counties: Philadelphia, Chester and Bucks. The number was increased by dividing these counties from time to time until the number reached 67. The last county created was Lackawanna in 1878.

The State is rectangular in shape and about 302 miles long by 176 wide. It contains 45,215 square miles, or 28,828,000 acres of land area, and is thirty-third in size among the states. It is not quite as large as New York but a little larger than Virginia, and is more than twice as large as New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland put together.

TOPOGRAPHY

Pennsylvania, as is the case in most Atlantic States, has comparatively level lands in the east and is more mountainous in the central and western sections. The elevation of the land varies from less than one hundred feet above sea level in the southeastern part of the State to approximately three thousand feet at the summit of some of the ridges in the Allegheny Mountains.

The Piedmont province, one of three topographic provinces crossing the State, takes in all the land southeast of South Mountain. The second is the Ridge and Valley province in the central section of the State. It is largely mountainous on the west. The topography consists of many long ridges of 1,000 and 1,500 feet high, separating many beautiful and fertile valleys. The largest valleys are the Nittany and the Kishacoquillas. The Allegheny Mountain and Plateau province lies to the west and north of the Ridge and Valley province and covers about two-thirds of the entire area of Pennsylvania. The streams and the valleys of this western section wind in all directions, and the surface is a maze of hills and valleys, quite high in the eastern part of the province but becoming gently rolling in the west.

CLIMATE

Pennsylvania is in that part of the United States having comparatively heavy rainfall. It is heaviest over most of the State during the spring and summer months, just when it will do most good for the growing of crops. The State is in the zone of prevailing westerly winds. Throughout most of the State the wind blows chiefly from the northwest in winter and from the southwest during the summer, except when disturbed by storms. Annual precipitation averages 42 inches.

AGRICULTURAL OPPORTUNITIES

Agribusiness — agriculture and its allied enterprise — is Pennsylvania's major industry. Its importance is emphasized by the fact that food processing alone is the second largest manufacturing category in the state, exceeded only by the primary metals industry.

Agriculture, as the keystone of Pennsylvania's Agribusiness, today supplies unexcelled farm products to the nation's major commodity markets. Pennsylvania's role will be even more important in the future as a source of both food and technical know-how in helping to feed the world's rapidly expanding population.

Soil Survey Maps

Soil maps and reports are available for about one-third of the counties in Pennsylvania. Requests should be addressed to Soil Technologist, 311 Tyson Building, University Park, Pa. 16802, and should specify the county involved.

"Science for the Farmer," a quarterly publication reporting subjects in all three divisions of the College of Agriculture--resident instruction, extension, research--is available to those requesting to be placed on the mailing list.

Correspondence Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics

The Cooperative Extension Service of the College of Agriculture at The Pennsylvania State University offers 71 correspondence courses in agriculture and 17 in home economics. For a catalogue describing the courses offered write to Correspondence Courses, 202 Agricultural Education Building, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pennsylvania 16802.

SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS

In addition to its many publications produced for free distribution to citizens of the Commonwealth, the College of Agriculture of The Pennsylvania State University is offering several publications on a for-sale basis. These may be ordered by writing to Box 6000, University Park, Pa. 16802. Make your check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University; your publication will be sent to you postpaid.

Land Resource Map of Pennsylvania	$10.00
-----------------------------------	---------

This map (48 by 56 inches) uses color coding to depict the location of the 153 individual "soil units" that exist in the Commonwealth. Each is described in terms of depth, slope, acidity, color, geologic source and mode of accumulation, texture, drainage, and suitability for cropping.

Stream Map of Pennsylvania	$1.00
----------------------------	--------

This map (34 by 56 inches) shows the names and locations of all streams and rivers in the Commonwealth that flow throughout the year. Includes boundaries of major and minor watersheds; locations of major water impoundments and fire towers; and villages, boroughs, and cities.

Birds of Pennsylvania	$1.00
-----------------------	--------

Descriptions of nearly 400 Pennsylvania birds, more than 150 accompanied by sketches. Habitat, seasonal patterns, and calendar of birdlife in Pennsylvania.

Grass Genital Abnormalities in Dairy Heifers $3.00

Description and classification of the causes of subfertility or infertility in 108 dairy heifers. Includes 24 color plates.

Repairing Chair Seats with Cane $.25

Illustrated guide to doing your own cane repairs.
